STEPHEN S. WISE ON THE RADIO

By RABBI FERDINAND M. ISSERMAN

The thousands of friends and admirers of Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York will be happy to know that the National Broadcasting Company has arranged to broadcast through its affiliated stations a weekly service and address by Dr. Wise. Every Sunday afternoon from three-thirty o'clock Dr. Wise will go on the air. We know that Dr. Wise counts many friends among Canadian Jews and Christians who will be glad of the opportunity of hearing him regularly.

THE ELECTION IN THE UNITED STATES

One week from the date of the writing of this editorial, the citizens of the United States will go to the polls to select their president for the ensuing four years. Shall it be Herbert Hoover or Al Smith? We hope it will be Al Smith. Both men are qualified for an office of trust and responsibility. Both men have demonstrated their talents and capacities. Smith has been a distinguished governor of the largest state, whose administrative record is unsurpassed by any of his predecessors, among whom there were such men as Theodore Roosevelt and Charles E. Hughes. Hoover has made a reputation first as an able mining engineer, then as a relief administrator in Europe and finally as a member of the Coolidge cabinet. Whoever wins, the American people are certain to have in the White House (what they have not always had there), a man of outstanding ability.

But we should like to see Al Smith win just because he is a Catholic, and just because the election campaign has been filled with bigotry and prejudice. To many Americans, the theory is taken for granted that the United States is a Protestant country. That theory should be scuttled. To others, it is an unwritten law that no non-Protestant should be President. That illusion should be squashed. It would be a wholesome thing for the republic to proclaim again as did Thomas Jefferson that it is founded on the bed-rock of complete religious freedom. Religious freedom means not only the right of every citizen to worship according to his own desire—but religious freedom also implies that the individual's religious profession be neither a qualification nor a disqualification for public office. It means the right of a Catholic to be president of the United States.

There are other issues in the campaign such as prohibition, government control of water resources, etc. But these are minor. If the people of the United States will elect Al Smith, they would be restating again in glorious fashion the doctrine of religious freedom and they would be rebuking the fanatics and bigots who fail to see that the separation of church and state means its separation from Protestantism as well as from Catholicism.

THE HADASSAH FAIR

Toronto Jews will turn out, as usual, in tremendous numbers, to the annual Hadassah bazaar which will be held at the Coliseum next week.

Toronto Hadassah is perhaps the most efficiently organized communal body in the city. Inspired by a fascinating ideal the women have thrown themselves into the work for their cause with a devotion and zeal unparalleled in any other sphere of public activity. Palestine—the heroic attempt of the battered Jewish nation to rebuild the old historic land as a new centre for creative Jewish functioning—the vision thrills and challenges the mind of the Jewish woman. Conscious of herself as a social being, the modern Jewish woman reacts to the stimuli of the communal scene. She recognizes her responsibilities as a participant in the social process. She takes up various causes and tenders her help. But if she has imagination and susceptibility to profounder values she will be intrigued by the far-flung reaches of Zionist ideology. Charity is meritorious. Feed the hungry. Clothe the naked. But how much grander is it to feed a whole nation with a sustaining ideal, to share in a process which has historic significance! The Jewish woman appreciates that as a Jewess, she is a member of a commonwealth of Jews. The character of the group enters into and colours her own character as an individual. It is important to minister to the needs of the group organism so that its character shall continue at the peak level of its destiny. This work is the task of Zionism. The Zionist woman ministers to the needs of the national organism.

It were idle to claim that every member of Hadassah fully understands the beauties of Zionism or of Hadassah. It would be much better if more women made it their business to acquaint themselves with the meaning and implications of their idea, and lived up to them. Nevertheless, it is encouraging to see so many of them carry on even as soldiers in the army blindly battling for the cause. The glory of the ideal does in any case, in a measure, reflect on them.

There be times when the zeal and persistence of the intrepid Hadassahs become somewhat annoying. But when one recalls that they are working unselfishly for a grand ideal, one cannot but be indulgent with them, and—sympathetically helpful.

The bazaar is the magnum opus of local Hadassah. It is a stupendous achievement. And the immense crowds that attend it pay by their presence a tribute to the initiative and perseverance which make such a grand undertaking possible.

THE MCGILL MISOGYNIST

The "McGill Daily" (the students' paper of McGill University) last week published a boorish editorial, criticizing the co-eds for coming late to the football matches, and referring in a particularly churlish tone to the Jewish girls allegedly guilty of the same offence.

The entire editorial was in poor taste. The reference to the Jewish co-eds was gratuitously insulting. The editor must have been hard pressed for copy. Possibly he was out of sorts at the beating which his team received at the hands of the Queen's players.

The "FAME" Virgin Milk

(Genuine Sirroy-Galtier Formula)

Will permanently whiten and beautify the skin

This beneficial skin tonic does a rare thing—it whitens the skin naturally. Other skin whiteners leave a coat of white powder on the skin, but this amazingly satisfactory milk whitens the skin itself, giving it a satiny finish. If you would have your skin appear at its best this winter, try it at once.

COMMENTARIES

By Rabbi Harry J. Stern, of Montreal
Associate Contributing Editor

JEWISH STUDENTS AND COLLEGE YELLS

An editorial in the McGill University Daily bemoans the fact that so many girl students are "poor yellers" at college football games. This editorial is not to be treated lightly. Authorities of McGill ought to immediately introduce a new department—"The Art of Yelling." In this department a quota ought to be set up for students of semitic origin. Why? Well, the writer of the editorial may be correct in the accusation that Jewish students are poor yellers! They do not know how to shout properly! History has established the fact that the Jew is a good thinker, not a yeller or shouter. Thinking and shouting do not go together usually. Yells, historically are more intimately associated with animals and primitive peoples. The hyena is a splendid "yeller." Hawthorne speaks somewhere of "the howling of wild beasts and the yell of Indians." Israel's kingdom is that of the mind and not of yells. Perhaps the ancient Psalmist's question is here appropriate, "Why do the (Goyim) Heathens yell?"

A NON-JEW LIKES OUR VENTURE IN EDUCATION

Sometimes it takes a non-Jew to speak a word of appreciation on behalf of things Jewish. The following letter needs no commentary. "My dear Rabbi Stern:

"I should like to extend my very best wishes for the success of the Temple Emanu-El College of Jewish Studies. I am delighted to hear of the inauguration of such an institution and to read of the successful opening which you had last night.

"I am sure that the establishment of this College has been due to your recognition of the deplorable conditions in educational matters in this city.

"I am attaching a copy of a statement about our own evening division, which you may find of interest.

"Yours very sincerely,

"E. OWEN STREDDER (Ph.D.)

"Principal of Sir George Williams College (of the Young Men's Hebrew Association of Montreal.)"

"THE RABBONIM"

The Orthodox Rabbis in Montreal are supposed to belong to an association known as the V'Ad Ha-Rabbonim. This organization it seems has done nothing since its existence except to label certain meat shops "Kosher." Occasionally these Rabbonim play politics and disagree among themselves as to the Kashruth of a meat shop. It seems to me that these learned gentlemen are more interested in Kitchen Judaism and Bauch Judenthum than in the real great values of Jewish life. What has the V'Ad done on behalf of Jewish education in the city? What is it doing for the thousands of Jewish youths in the north and east sections of Montreal, who are starving spiritually? What has it done to raise the standard of Jewish culture? And the sad part of it is that these clerics depend for their livelihood on the Kosher meat industry. I believe Jewish dignity demands that Rabbonim receive salaries from the respective congregations of which they are leaders. Perhaps then the politics about Kosher Boshier business would disappear.

FROM MY DIARY

July 22: I am in the capital of Finland, Helsingfors, held up here because my visa did not come through from Moscow. The next thing to do is to find Yehudim. A walk through the park and a Shalom Aleichem unites me with fellow Jews. These take me to their homes, dine me and wine me. The Jews of Helsingfors have their own schools, partly supported by the government. The Jews here are hospitable, cultured and loyal. While dining in the home of Mr. Morduch, a lady informs me that she heard of me. Her daughter, a physician, at present in Montreal, attends regularly at Temple Emanu-El. A small world after all.

Every Friday

Much excitement at McGill University, Montreal. University students and others were shocked to read in an editorial in the McGill Daily taking to task tardy arrivals at rugby games, the following: "We would like to suggest that a separate section be reserved for women of Semitic origin as these seem to be the worst offenders. Then perhaps a greater co-operation might be secured in rendering the Hebrew version of the McGill yell which was attempted with so little success on Saturday." This last referred to a sorority group and its yell. In the issue of the Daily next day, October 24, as handsome a collection of apologies was made as ever a paper published. A news item on the front page told of a meeting of the Students' Executive Council at which a resolution was passed censuring the managing board of the Daily, demanding an apology in the columns of the paper and requesting that the writer of the offending editorial sever all connection with the paper. The leading editorial expressed the deep regret of the managing board that the editorial in question had not been scrutinized by the editor-in-chief as is the usual custom and that the objectionable paragraph had passed unobserved. "Nothing could be farther from the minds of the editors of this paper," it said, "than to promote smouldering animosity between races." Then as a crowning glory to the first page, prominently displayed, set up in italics, from H. Paul Melanson, "To the Undergraduates," came the following really admirable apology which should close the incident to the satisfaction of all those insulted:

"May I, on behalf of the Students' Executive Council, present to the undergraduate body our attitude with regard to the grossly unfair and slanderous editorial which appeared in the Daily yesterday. The publication of the article was the result of negligence and misplaced trust on the part of the Editor-in-Chief, whose resignation the Council has refused to accept in view of our findings. I deeply regret that the mistake was made, and I trust that the undergraduates of all races and of all creeds will be more tolerant in their judgment than the writer of the article was, in being so ill advised as to take advantage of our columns and our courtesy to express what was no more than a personal narrow bigoted opinion. I wish to reassure you that there is nothing further removed from our policy, than race distinction or partiality. Our University is too big to permit of any petty bigotry among her subjects, and as representatives of the undergraduates the Council does not tolerate any artificial barriers that will cause discord in our relations of one with the other."

Dr. Abraham Flexner, who recently resigned as director of the General Educational Board of the Rockefeller Foundation, spoke words to the graduating class of the Training School for Jewish Social Work which are a rebuke to professional Americanizers or Canadianizers and supporters of the Nordic myth. Few men have the courage to speak what they believe to be the truth on this subject, especially Jews. Most Jews who have tongues for the public feel they must tell with eagerness of the Jewish malleability in the melting pot: You stuff the Jew into the pot, jam on the lid and after the Americanizers have stoked long enough, behold, the immigrant Jew comes forth over 100 per cent. American! He has been standardized along with the Italians and the Norwegians and the effect is beautiful to see. It took Dr. Charles W. Elliott, an American of long line, to say that the Jews and Irish and others have not been perfectly assimilated and what of it? This was a radical statement to make because it was sheer common sense and nothing shocks people so much as that.

Dr. Flexner doesn't speak very often but when he does liberals are indebted to him for his clear-sightedness and the thoughtful expression of his views. He said to the graduating class of the Training School for Jewish Social Work: "Far from regarding the mixed composition of races in this country as unfortunate, I regard it as fortunate and as an advantage of which not enough use has been made. Every one of the alien stocks brought to this country their own native culture. Short-sighted reformers think they will help matters if they were to disintegrate these racial groups as fast as possible. To destroy their contribution would be to take away something important from our too-barren civilization. If the folk-lore and the cultures of these races were obliterated, the country would lose instead of gaining. Short-sighted people would think to Americanize these alien races and would by their premature dissolution destroy their standards of conduct and picturesqueness. There is no subject on the face of the earth about which more nonsense has been spoken than the subject of

Social Life in 1906— Do You Remember?—

In Montreal the wedding took place of Miss May Levinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Levinson, to Samuel Wener at the home of the bride's parents, 107 Drummond Street. Rabbi Abramowitz performed the ceremony. Only members of the immediate family were present. The bride wore a white lace robe with veil and orange blossoms and was given away by her father. The bridesmaid, Miss Sarah Levinson, wore white point d'esprit over pink taffeta. The maid-of-honour, Miss Bessie Levinson, was in pale pink silk. Ethel Wener, of New York, and Rose Hart, neices of the groom, were flower girls. The bride's mother was in grey silk brocade and the groom's mother in black silk with lace. Mrs. Samuel Hart, sister of the groom, wore blue peau de soie. After a reception the couple left for Quebec and sailed for a two months' tour of Europe. Rabbi Nathan Gordon was appointed minister of Temple Emanu-El. He was born in Odessa, Russia, in 1882, and educated partly at the Yeshiva in Tellis. In 1891 he came to America with his father who was a rabbi in Odessa and later rabbi to the Demime Derach Reform congregation in Cincinnati. The family lived in New Orleans first. Rabbi Gordon entered Hebrew Union College. It was said of him at the time of his appointment to Temple Emanu-El that he had "a handsome presence, an engaging personality and will no doubt be popular with his congregation which admires culture, learning and earnestness. His first sermon gave entire satisfaction to the congregation." N. Levinson was in Winnipeg. D. Marks returned from Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. Moses Vineberg were in New York. T. Vineberg, of Sherbrooke, was in the city. Mr. and Mrs. J. Rosenbloom and son, of Sherbrooke, were in town. M. Wolfe, of Quebec, visited Mrs. E. Wetstein. Miss A. A. Goldberg, Drolet Street, was in New York. I. Friedman was in Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wener were in Toronto. Miss Vineberg, Crescent Street, was in Detroit. Misses L. and S. Levinson and Harry Franklin and Joseph Levinson, Jr., were in Quebec. In Vancouver Mrs. Maurice Gintzburger returned home after a visit in New Denver, B.C. Mr. and Mrs. Weinrobe, of Ladysmith, B.C., were in the city. S. Blackson was an officer of the Benevolent Society. The name of a street named for David Oppenheimer, once mayor, was changed.

CHALLENGE OF THE WILD

At this time when deer roam through the forest and the tracks of moose and bear are found along the streams, there is aroused in every hunter an urge, a desire to invade the great North Woods, and there, in their natural habitat, match his hunter's skill against the instinct and cunning of these prized forest denizens.

Moishe Applebaum, of 3490 City Hall Avenue, Montreal, is five years old; and he was a very happy boy when his sister, Rose, took him to school. But sad to say, the principal explained that Moishe was too young for the "scribbler and pencil" class and would have to go to kindergarten. When Moishe heard this he was very disappointed for two or three of his friends were in the higher class. Looking up hopefully at the principal, he said quickly: "I can count, mister!" The principal smiled. "Can you, my little man? Well, then, how much is four and four?" Moishe thought and thought and then brightly replied: "Two fours!" And now he's in the "scribbler and pencil" class.

SOME FACTS ABOUT THE NEW FORD

Production and Demand for New Ford Exceeds All Previous Records

The manufacturing schedules of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, have been steadily built up until a new daily record for Canadian automobile production has been reached.

Despite this peak output, orders for the new Ford keep uniformly ahead of the rising tide of manufacture. It is therefore necessary to continue a high rate of production. To this end a steady flow of material from more than 385 Canadian sources streams into the Ford plants. And here, with more than 10,000 men on the pay-rolls (almost double the previous employment record) these materials are converted into New Ford cars.

Ford Quality of Manufacture Has Been Strictly Maintained

In the effort to build enough New Ford cars to meet requirements, no deviation from the high standard of Ford precision has been permitted. This standard, unbelievably strict, was set before the car was placed upon the market, and it has since been rigidly adhered to.

In the New Ford Car 40 different steel alloys are used. Each is chosen for the specific use for which it is best adapted. In the transmission gears alone there are seven different kinds of alloys. Likewise, the forged steel spring perches, hardly bigger round than a man's thumb, will withstand a strain of 15,000 pounds. This is 30 times greater than the strain put on them in ordinary use.

The excellence of materials used is matched by the careful precision of its manufacture. For example, the eight valve guides in every engine may deviate from perfection only by 1/30th of the thickness of the average human hair.

The simplicity and soundness of Ford design is unparalleled. Such manufacturing methods ensure a high degree of satisfactory performance over a long period of years.

Ford Performance is the New Standard for Judging Automobiles

The rapidity of get-away and acceleration of the New Ford is a by-word. Its endurance, which permits sustained driving at the higher speeds hour after hour, is little short of marvelous. The ease with which steep hills are climbed in high gear is equally as impressive. Shifting gears, steering and handling the car under the most trying road conditions are exceptionally simple. 25 to 30 miles per gallon of gasoline and remarkably low oil consumption give a worthwhile operating economy.

In city traffic and on country highways, the New Ford performs as well as and often better than considerably heavier and higher priced cars. In the light car field it is absolutely without equal.

By these marks of Ford performance other motor cars are being judged. It simply means that price is no longer the gauge of automobile quality.

Ford Beauty Is More Than Skin Deep

On the surface the New Ford car is all that you want it to be. Beautiful low lines, harmonious color combinations, sparkling nickel, sturdy steel spoked wheels and balloon tires all play their part in making this a car of graceful proportion and handsome appearance.

But its real beauty is invisible. The quality of materials; careful workmanship; correctness of design; the things that really matter—these are the points in which the New Ford is exceptional.

Windshield of shatterproof glass and a six brake system, fully enclosed, safeguard occupants in any emergency. Four efficient shock absorbers in conjunction with the best proven light car spring system, give matchless riding comfort. All models are completely equipped to provide the ultimate in comfort, convenience and safety.

If you have not ridden in the new Ford car, or experienced the thrill of driving it, there awaits you the knowledge that car values have actually changed; that a really fine car has come into the light car field; and that values offered by the new Ford cannot be duplicated anywhere. Your local Ford dealer will prove these statements by demonstration.

It Came to Pass That—

This CANADIAN JEWISH REVIEW feature must prove of absorbing interest to all its readers, especially the young folks. It is a history of the Jewish people through centuries recorded by days. Buy a loose-leaf note book, clip this account and paste it in. If you do this every week, in time you will possess a hand-book of value. The historian is Dr. Cecil Roth, of London, England, fellow of the Royal Historical Society, author and essayist.

NOVEMBER 2ND

BALFOUR DECLARATION, 1917: "His Majesty's Government view with favour the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jewish people, and will use their best endeavours to facilitate the achievement of this object, it being clearly understood that nothing shall be done which may prejudice the civil and religious rights of existing non-Jewish communities in Palestine or the rights and political status enjoyed by the Jews in any other country."

NOVEMBER 3RD

Expulsion from France, 1394. After the Exile of 1306, which had put an end to the glories of French Jewry, there had been a partial recall from 1315 to 1322, and another (to strengthen the financial position of the Crown after the battle of Poitiers) in 1359. But the popular resentment of the heavy taxation soon manifested itself in a series of attacks upon the Jews. The Crown protected them until an incident occurred which brought matters to a head. A wealthy Jew of Ville-Paris, named Dennis Machault, had the temerity to return to Judaism after having accepted baptism. For abetting this crime, the Jews of Paris were arrested and flogged; and it was determined to banish the whole of the wretched remnant. On September 17, 1394, while the victims were assembled in their synagogues wrapped in prayer on the Day of Atonement (surely not an unintentional coincidence!) the mad Charles VI signed the fatal order. All Jews were to leave the country by November 3. Excepting in some outlying provinces, this marked the final close of the history of the Jews in France during the Middle Ages. It was not until the period of the Revolution that they were again formally tolerated in the country.

NOVEMBER 4TH

Inquisition installed in Mexico, 1571. Though the Jews had so largely helped in the discovery of the New World, it was not long before they were followed thither by the instruments of torture of the Old. On November 4, 1571, the Holy Office was set up in Mexico for the first time on the American continent. Three years later, the first auto-da-fé took place. Down to the extinction of the tribunal at the close of the eighteenth century, Jews remained among its principal victims. At one ceremony in 1597, sixty penitents figured; at another, six years later, more than one hundred. In every year from 1646 to 1649, an auto was held, Jews figuring in considerable number on each occasion. Amongst the most distinguished of the persons tried before the Inquisition in Mexico was Luis de Carabajal, formerly governor of one of the provinces of New Spain. In spite of these barbarous activities certain traces of Judaism still remain among the population of the country.

NOVEMBER 5TH

"Convention" between Jews and students in Mantua, 1735. From time immemorial, it had been regarded as a prescriptive right of the pupils of the high school of that city to pelt any Jew who was so unfortunate as to pass before the building—especially, as may be imagined, when there was snow on the ground. On November 5, 1735, an agreement was made through the mediation of the Secretary of State which replaced this usage by another hardly less degrading, and in which the government became definitely an accomplice. In return for the cessation of this petty persecution, the Jewish community bound themselves to give, year by year, on St. Catharine's Day, a fixed quantity of sweetmeats, liqueur, and writing paper to the rector of the school and to the pupils. Upon this understanding, the imbecilic old custom was abandoned.

NOVEMBER 6TH

Firman against Blood Libel, 1840. The infamous "Damascus Affair," in which the Jews were accused of the murder of a Franciscan friar, had taken place on February 5, of that year, arousing general indignation throughout Europe. Meetings of protest were held in London, New York and Philadelphia; and a mission was sent out to the East by the Jews of France and England, the principal members being Moses Montefiore and Salaman Munk. On August 4, the delegation reached Alexandria, and obtained almost immediately from Mehemet Ali, Governor of Egypt, the unconditional release of the nine survivors of the thirteen persons imprisoned upon the charge. Going on thence to Constantinople, the delegates were received in audience by the Sultan Abdul-Mejid. From him they obtained on November 6 a Firman unconditionally acquitting the accused persons, pronouncing the ritual murder a gross libel upon the Jewish people, and confirming the inviolability of the persons and property of Jews throughout the Ottoman Empire.

NOVEMBER 7TH

Edict of Hamburg Senate, 1611. Portuguese Marranos were to be found in the city from the closing years of the sixteenth century in some numbers. They still remained, however, titular Catholics, and thus doubly aroused the ire of the Protestant population, at that time at the height of its intolerance. A petition was accordingly presented to the Senate to expel these strangers from the city. The latter body, recognising the extraordinary commercial importance of the immigrants, would have preferred to take advantage of their presence by the imposition of some extraordinary taxation; but the fanaticism of the clergy did not permit so peaceful a solution of the problem. Accordingly, it was decided to apply for a decision to the Lutheran Academies at Frankfort and at Jena. The reply of these bodies was far from intransigent: for they recommended that the Jews should be received under certain restrictions in order that they might be won over to the love of the Gospel. In consequence, the Senate at last formally authorised the Jewish settlement in the city, and it became before long, after Amsterdam, the greatest refuge for the victims of the Inquisition and the greatest centre of Sephardic Jewish life in Western Europe.

NOVEMBER 8TH

Synod in Rhineland, 1223. The practise of holding rabbinical synods to discuss matters of general importance, introduced into France by Rashi and his disciples, had been taken over from them by the Rabbis of Germany. The three important Rhineland communities—Spires, Worms and Mayence—naturally took the lead, so that the conclusions arrived at were known after their initials as the Takkanot "Shum." The first of these assemblages was held in 1196, between 1200 and 1223 it was succeeded by three others. The latest, held at Mayence or at Worms, confirmed in the main the provisions of the preceding ones. It endeavoured to promote solidarity amongst the Jews by forbidding recourse to Gentile courts in cases of internal dispute or the appointment to offices within the community by secular authorities. In domestic affairs, it endeavoured to raise the intellectual level by forbidding gambling and introducing specific times for study. Amongst the famous scholars who subscribed to these provisions were Eleazar of Worms, author of the famous mystical work, the Sefer ha-Rokeach, and Eliezar ben Joel, a famous Rabbinical scholar, known by the initials of his name as "Raabiah." A final assemblage of this sort took place on the Rhineland in 1250.

Northern Ontario, now open for settlement at fifty cents per acre, contains millions of acres of the finest agricultural land in the world. Its resources in lumber, minerals, water, power, fish, game and scenery are immense. The land calls for men to cultivate it, and in return will give health, comfort and prosperity.

What settlers say of the soil, climate, farming and forest life, is told in a most attractive booklet issued under the direction of the Honourable John S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario. Full instructions in regards to acquiring a title to these rich agricultural lands are also given.

Editorial

But undoubtedly he is a petty individual with a picayune outlook on things. The triviality of the whole subject of his stricture can be realized when it is recalled that at the McGill-Queen's game there was an attendance of some sixteen thousand, and the entire Jewish female enrollment at McGill probably does not exceed fifty, of whom a conceivably large proportion did not attend the game at all. Figure out the dimensions of an editor's mind who can lose his temper and his manners if, say, twenty-five Jewish girls (assuming that every one of the Jewish girls who did attend the game came late) were not quite on time among a crowd of sixteen thousand!

Students who have had any experience at all with the ladies (and what students have not had it?) know that it is the nature of the species to keep their male escorts waiting for them. They will therefore realize that this editor person of theirs is altogether too unworldly to fit the position which he holds on the staff of their publication. They will not jeopardize their standing with the beautiful creatures at their university by allowing a vulgar misogynist to act as their journalistic spokesman.

We take it that the authorities of the university as well as the mass of the fair-minded students will properly rebuke the slush journalist in their midst for his miserable reference to the Jewish co-eds. McGill University will not allow the ugly taint of malicious prejudice to creep into and colour publications which bear its revered crest.
